Choosing the Time & Day

If the Saturday evening you had in mind is not available, why not consider another possibility? A Saturday afternoon reception has its advantages. It offers traveling convenience for out-of-towners and elderly guests, and it provides you guests with their prime meal of the day. It reserves the freshest and most energetic time of the day for your special event.

An early afternoon wedding, followed by a mid-afternoon reception, leaves the evening free for the relaxation you and your family will welcome... Friday evening receptions are also a popular choice. They offer the first chance for family and friends to relax after a week of hard work, which is why Friday evening crowds are often "party" crowds. You may also wish to consider Sundays or the eves of holidays.

For instance, the Sundays before Memorial Day and Labor Day are popular times for wedding receptions at The Farm. And the days before Independence Day and Thanksgiving Day are good times for family and friends to gather. Please call us to check availability.

Important Additional Notes

- * Please contact The Farm before your invitations are printed so we can discuss the proper timing of your wedding reception and other related details.
- * We strongly recommend that you plan your reception time with your guests' convenience in mind. A large gap of time between the wedding ceremony and the reception may cause some of your guests to leave your reception early. For optimum timing, we recommend that the bridal party arrive at the reception within 30 minutes of its start time (this should allow ample time for photographs).
- * Reception times should be printed on your invitations to prevent any inconvenience to your guests caused by their early arrival.
- * Music & wedding cake are not provided by The Farm.
- * We reserve the right to limit the volume of music that exceeds reasonable levels.
- * Additional decorations are not necessary, but subject to the approval of the The Farm. Glitter, Confetti, and Bottled Bubbles are PROHIBITED.
- * We do not permit the throwing of Confetti, Rice, or Bird Seed.
- * The Farm is decorated for Christmas from approximately Thanksgiving Day through the first week of January.
- * The Farm's decorations may not be removed.
- * Cloak rooms are available, but with no attendants; therefore, The Farm assumes no liability for loss.
- * If you object to the selling of alcoholic beverages, we will make them unavailable to your guests. However, please note that a Saturday evening reservation may not receive a discount.
- * If alcoholic beverages are available, then all types of alcoholic beverages will be made available. Since beer and soft drinks are included in the price, we reserve the right to offer wine and liquor on a cash basis in order to accommodate the varying preferences of our guests.
- * The Loft Room has a bubble machine that we typically turn on as the bride and groom are introduced, during the first dance, and periodically throughout the evening.
- * The Farm does not recommend a Captain's Call for dinner.
- * Information obtained from the website may change before we are able to update our website. We make every effort to ensure that posted information is as accurate as possible; please call our office to confirm prices.
- * Sponsors agree to assume responsibility for damage to premises or theft or damage to the equipment of The Farm, Inc. resulting from the actions of their guests.
